COP. 2

Because we cannot see time pass, because we are not aware of the minutes, hours, and days as we move through them, or they move around us, we must measure time by the change which takes place.

As we, and all about us continue to change, the 1972 Innitou will remain a record of the differences between September 1968, and June, 1972; a record of four years.

We are ourselves
the product of a mammoth transformation
And as we look around us we may recognize our transition from childhood to adulthood. . .

We recognize our different appearances
... as we strive to keep up with a changing world.

In which we see a kaleidoscope
of ever shifting seasonal patterns.

New attitudes, insights and knowledge have altered our ideas and perceptions

New faces and friends have touched our lives and left their lasting impressions . . .

Administration and Faculty

To the Class of 1972:

This is an exciting time. Much that was held dear for so long is rapidly changing. The present reveals new ideas, new ways to do old things, new skills, new music, new art, new nations and new exploration into other planets.

You, the graduates of the class of 1972, hold a great responsibility as to how our world adjusts to these changes, as well as to its realizing the rights and benefits of these changes.

I trust that your training and help received from your parents, teachers, and church have well prepared you for the age of the "Soaring Seventies."

Best wishes to each of you.

To the Members of the Class of 1972:

The Winter of Discontent in our recent history has been marked by one of the worst periods of civil disorder, turmoil, and drug addiction in the development of our country. It has not provided a pleasant outlook for the high school graduate of June, 1972.

What we are likely to forget is that this class about to continue with higher education or in the field of uncertain employment has, during their brief memory, been exposed — as James Reston pointedly shows — to continuing confusion, doubt, change, and violence during the years of their formal education.

Most of the class were born nine years after World War II. They were only five when John F. Kennedy ran for President, eight when he was assassinated, ten when the air and ground war started in Vietnam.

Yet it is to the current class that we must look for our Spring of Hope — the restoration of the ideals of truth and justice and righteousness.

"Our civilization can be maintained and restored," wrote Walter Lippman, long before this class was born, "only by remembering and re-discovering the truths, and by re-establishing the virtuous habits on which it was founded. There is no use looking into the bleak future for some new and fancy revelation of what man needs in order to live."

It is in you we place our Hope and look for the re-discovery of these transeendent virtues.

Dedication 1972

We, the Class of 1972 dedicate the 1972 Innitou to a person who has greatly influenced our lives. In the years that we have known him, a warm personal relationship has developed between the members of the class and this multifaceted human being.

His talents manifest themselves on multiple levels. In the classroom he has been a firm and dedicated instructor, striving to meet the needs and interest of his students. Concomitant with this, he, for several years, acted and capably performed as chairman of his department. Recognizing this gentleman's obvious competence, the School Committee three years ago appointed him to serve as our housemaster.

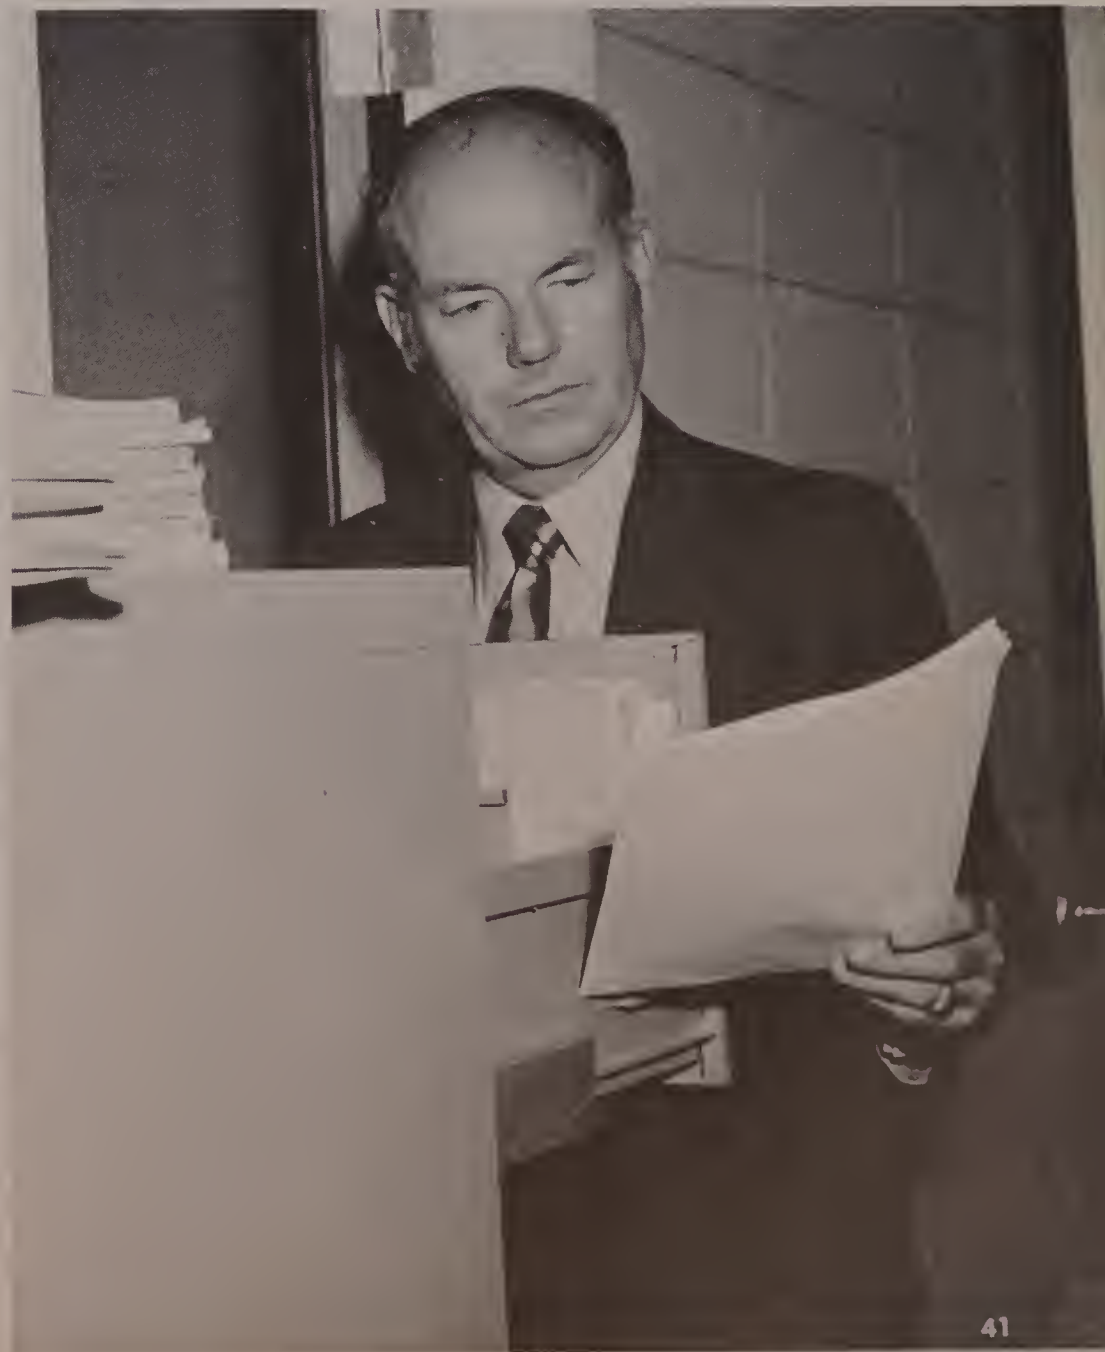

In that capacity he has never lost his firm but fair attitude and has invariably listened, conferred, and counseled individuals with personal and school related problems. His sense of humor has brightened many assemblies and class activities as he possesses the ability to smile and laugh at himself as well as others.

As Class Advisor he has provided us with two successful formals, he has labored long to win, for us, privileges unknown to any previous class and he has assisted us in making judgements and decisions that will certainly affect our lives.

Wherever the future may lead us, whenever we reminisce upon our four years at Woburn High School we will remember you as a warm, sincere, dedicated teacher, administrator and friend. The class takes supreme pride in awarding the 1972 Innitou to you . . .

Illusions — Junior Prom

On May 28, the class of 1972 presented our first formal dance entitled "Illusions."

The familiar cafeteria was transformed into a romantic fairyland with decorations depicting kings, queens, castles and gardens. A fountain with pastel lights lent a festive air to the courtyard as couples lingered in the warm evening air.

The crowning of the queen and her court signaled the end of a very special evening.

Lynn and Bobby smile for our photographer.

The crowning of our queen Jeanne Fitzler and her attendants (L-R) Kathy Mulrenan and Maura Marshall.

Richie McKenna's rag time band.

Debbie Barns seems to be satisfied with her candidate.

Jr. Class Officers and Advisors: (Bottom L-R): Leona Doyle (Advisor), Elaine McHugh (Sec.), Steve Malone (Vice Pres.), James Foley (Advisor). Top: John Love (Treas.), Larry Miner (Pres.).

Closely Contested Elections

Posters, campaign speeches and nomination papers set the scene of the 1971-72 class elections. After assemblies and days of hectic vote-getting, the final results were announced throughout the school. This year the results of several contests were determined by the closest of margins.

Students learn a great deal about the Democratic process and how it works from these elections. Hopefully in future years, participation will aid the student in exercising his franchise. To the winners "best wishes" were extended and to the losers "congratulations" were announced on playing a fair game.

Maureen Tenney and her date find the dance enjoyable.

Joanne O'Brien and Richie Lynch pause to have some refreshments.

Linda Lucontoni and Carl Restivo discuss plans for the Christmas Dance.

Mary Paladino and her date find the dance laughable.

Christmas Dance

On December 17, stained glass windows, a hugh red sleigh and snowflakes in the air lent a holiday atmosphere as the Class of 1972 presented the annual dance "A Portrait of Christmas." Dressed in velvets and suits members of the Senior Class laughed and danced to the music of "Waiting Is."

Santa Claus and his elves visited those in attendance, distributing candy canes and trinkets to deserving young ladies.

Norino Mirra and Donna Bouley portray Willie and Linda in Miller's Death of a Salesman.

Joe Lally and Stephen Hart discuss women as Norino contemplates the situation.

The Actors in The Crucible (L-R) Seated: Rich McKenna, Mark Given, Brian Gaffney, and John Ralphs Standing: Kathy McGann, Charlie Gatlin, Joe Howe, David McCallister, Catherine Tuzzolo and Charlie Voner.

Charlie Gatlin introduces The Crucible as the second of three plays.

Christine Dwyer plays "the woman next door" and Norino doesn't seem to object!

Senior Play

Under the exceptional direction of Mrs. Dorothea McCausland the Class of 1972 presented "A Night With Arthur Miller," a selection of three of the playwright's most popular works.

A scene from "All My Sons" and a portion of "The Crucible" were enacted as an introduction to the magnificent presentation of "Death of a Salesman."

The Friday evening performance was dedicated to Mr. Edson Kimball, a man who, previous to his retirement, had directed the annual event.

This night of excellent drama will be remembered by all who were in attendance.

The cast of "All My Sons" Seated (L-R): Carolyn Johnson, Sheila Tully. Standing: Richard Ring, Mark Bastoni, Glenn Fitchett, and David Sullivan.

Jimmy Hubbard and David Smith stand defiant as Brian Clooney urges them to study.

Louis Tortorella charms Paula Crawford. "Perhaps a glass of champagne, Mademoiselle?"

"I beg your pardon, sir!" John Treacy says pompously.

Clubs and Activities

Women's Club: (L-R): Miss Herlihy (Advisor), Marie McGrath, Cathy Bannister, Nancy Donovan, Pamela Wood, Carolyn Johnson, Louisa Craib.

Women's Club Representatives

At the regular meetings of the Woburn Women's Club, six honor students represented the high school. Enjoying lunch and the varied programs enabled the students to become better acquainted with the social and cultural offerings of the community. Attendance gives meaning to the definition of "woman" in a modern society.

National Honor Society

The objective of the National Honor Society this year was to break away from the old stereotyped labeling as "intellegentsia" and open up a new idea in the way of civic activities. The organization has again, as in the past, collected canned goods for the needy; but has gone even further by collecting cosmetics, stuffed animals, writing utensils, and other items for the mentally ill patients of Bethany Hospital in Lincoln. Also on the agenda this year was a system of tutoring whereby the members of the National Honor Society gave help to any student in the school requesting it. It was the aim of the members of the organization that the National Honor Society be not merely a way for them to become recognized for their scholastic and academic achievements, but also a way in which they can help other people.

Junior Rotarians

Through attendance at weekly luncheon meetings at the Boy's Club, Junior Rotarians are introduced to civic leaders and become aware of the community's concerns. These outstanding school citizens are selected on the basis of scholarship and participation in school functions. Members of the Rotary hope that exposure to the ideals exemplified by this service organization will carry into the students' adult life.

Choraleers

Choraleers, under the direction of Mr. Hodgson, number 28 members this year. This has been a most active year for the group as it has performed for many community organizations. In December alone the Choraleers presented 8 concerts. The students combined with members of the Concert Band, jointly performed for the two junior high schools as part of a recruitment program. New and innovative programs are in preparation for the future.

Scribes

Ideas of the present and knowledge of the past inspire creative minds to record their beliefs and ideas of life. The Scribes is a group of such creative people whose goal is to write tomorrow's literature today. An organization formed in the Fall of 1966, The Scribes succeeded in writing three original, highly imaginative plays. The plays were characterized by irony, suspense, satire, humor, and imagination. The novel approaches to the presentation of these plays revealed the dedication and desire for perfection of the authors, directors, advisor, and members. This year's original presentations included "The Stolen Cracka-Chewie Cookie" by Mark Bastoni and Joseph Lalley, "Destination," by Susan McGonigle, Charles Voner's "Curse of the Ruby Ring," and Alan Devaney's, "Gunjoke."

Drama Guild

The Drama Guild is a truly democratic organization. Everybody is president. No student who wishes to appear on stage is ever refused this opportunity. As a consequence, the performances include students from all levels. This group of selected and rehearsed actors and actresses constructed scenery and made appropriate costumes for all performances. The group's major effort is the One-Act Play contest in which three original plays are produced. Awards are presented for the most outstanding play, the most skilled director, and the most professional actors and actresses.

Student Council Varies Program

Participating in more activities than ever before, the Student Council provided its members with many opportunities to participate in and observe the varied functions in a society. Council members conducted the class elections and tried to create school unity. In addition to the annual Booster Dance and Mother-Daughter Banquet, the Student Council sponsored a "Car Smash" to arouse spirit for the Thanksgiving Day game. A cake sale was a money raising activity. In the high school, the council enacted new laws governing student life.

Officers: Richard Ring, Pres., Sharon Searbo, Sec., Joseph Cuozzo, Vice Pres., Marie Morandi, Treas., Mr. Robert DeLuca, Advisor.

Supporters of Mark and Kevin vie for space.

Mr. Dempsey and Mr. Roche try casting a vote.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses Club is comprised of those students who may be interested in a health career, especially nursing. The club functions in obtaining knowledge concerning various nursing schools and colleges, enrollment information and admissions directors, head nurses and student nurses who present discussions, movies, and slides concerning their particular careers. Field trips are conducted to different health institutions such as Choate Memorial Hospital and Children's Hospital to investigate the work of nurses, lab technicians, x-ray technicians, physical therapists, and inhalation therapists. This year the Future Nurses Club also attended the Health Careers Fair in Worcester.

Classics Club

Latin lives today as vibrantly as it did yesterday. For those who know the treasure trove hidden among the Latin and Greek masters, Latin will also live tomorrow. It is the purpose of the Classics Club to introduce the students to the richness and variety of ancient Greek and Latin culture.

For the club members the pathos of Greek tragedies in translation, learning "What the Greeks Really Thought of Their Gods" through Prof. Kitto's lecture, and getting "Caesar Across the Rubicon" in playlet form are but a few of the ways to taste the meaty lore of old.

Bridge Club

Each Monday afternoon, the Woburn High School Bridge Club meets in room 8250 with its instructor, Mr. Matthew McNamara. At these meetings, the members learn the theory of the game as well as actually participating in the competition. By studying the theory of the game, the members learn to reveal the content of their cards to their partner in the preliminary bidding.

As well as having matches among the club members, tournaments with other high schools are part of the program. In the past, the representatives from Woburn have done very well in inter-school competition and are looking forward to further success in the coming school years.

NJROTC Drill Team

The Drill Team, a select group of twenty boys, spent many afternoons preparing for the numerous activities in which they participated. Members learn the basics of Close Order Drill, and in striving for perfection, attain the satisfaction that accompanies the mastery of complex skills. The group was conspicuous for its precision when they performed in the Veteran's Day Parade, Halloween Parade, and at half-time during the Thanksgiving football game.

Anchorettes Drill Team

The newly formed Anchorettes, the girls' division of the Drill Team, provided an attractive addition to many of the boys' performances.

A. V. Club

The Audio-Visual Club is responsible for the distribution of the visual aids material used throughout the school. Each member must pass an extensive course on the operation and maintenance of each piece of equipment before he is qualified to serve as a media specialist. The members donate their time before and after school and during study periods to the delivery of equipment and the operation of all types of visual aid materials.

During the year the members have attended field trips to various institutions involved in the presentation of "cultural media." These trips include WBZ, WRKO, and the New England Film Conference.

Chess Club: David Burchfield, Steve Fosle, Rich Bruse, John Maher, Rich Gregorio, Mr. Johnston.

Chess Club

Weekly meetings after school give members of the Chess Club opportunity to improve their strategy and practice their skills by playing against each other. The group has met for competition with other schools which have chess clubs, and the members attend any professional tournaments held in the area.

Language Clubs

Foreign Language students are given the opportunity to develop their linguistic abilities and to experience the culture of France, Germany, Spain or Russia through the Foreign Language Clubs. Slide presentations, foreign language films, visits to museums and dinners at foreign restaurants provide interesting and educational activities; while special events such as the Oktoberfest, fiestas, or the performances of the Osipov Balalaika Orchestra from Moscow or the performance of "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" by the Treteau de Paris provide the highlights of the year. Many lucky students had the opportunity to experience a foreign culture first hand through the April trips to France and Spain; but all students who belong to the French Club, German Club, Spanish Club, or Russian Club are in a sense world travelers through their varied experiences after school.

Math Team

Under the leadership of team captain Patrick O'Connor, the Woburn High Math Team has begun what will hopefully be another championship season. After the first two competitions it has a lead of almost 80 points over its nearest divisional rival. The team hopes to add to this lead by the end of the year and conclude the season in the top five of the entire Massachusetts Mathematics League. The Math Team competes in seven meets a year with the other teams in its division. The members of the team practice daily for each month's competition with the assistance of the advisors, Miss Hall, Mr. J. H. Brennan, and Mrs. Kallock. Finally, to answer the many inquiries about uniforms: No. 1. the Math Team doesn't have uniforms with numbers such as  $\sqrt{2}$ ,  $\Pi$  and  $e$ !

Biology Pre-Med Club

The main purpose of the Biology Pre-Med Club is to stimulate interest in the medical profession and in the various biological fields. This year's membership was the largest and most enthusiastic. The highlight of the year's activities was the trip to Massachusetts General Hospital where the members had the opportunity to tour the hospital laboratories and to observe open heart surgery. Some of the other activities enjoyed by the club were visits by a medical student and a veterinarian, a trip to a health careers fair, and visits to the New England Aquarium and the Choate Memorial Hospital.

Junior Assistants Prove Indispensible

Whenever a faculty member needs a report or material for class work, whenever a student's term report is overdue, or whenever a club needs typewritten material, Woburn High's answer to these and many other similar dilemmas is the Junior Assistant's Club.

The membership of this club consists of girls in the business course since only they have the skills necessary for such typing assignments.

Junior Assistance Club: (L-R): Miss Connell, Eleanor Loder (Executive V. P.), Judy Hussey (Secretary), Missy Morris (President), Martha Liuzza (Treasurer), Mrs. McDonough.

Assistants to the Library

Much of the clerical work of the library is performed by the Library Aides during their study periods. In order to speed up the processing of new materials in the school, the aides paste, stamp and cover books, type and file cards, and keep the book shelves and magazine sections in order. This year the Library Aides toured several large libraries in the Boston area.

Business Ed. Club

In addition to increasing the members' knowledge of business trends and conditions, the Business Education Club performs services for the community and the school, provides a social group for the members, and establishes an "Esprit de Corps" among the senior girls in the Business Department.

Club meetings were held the 3rd Monday of each month, third period, in the Little Theatre where lectures, discussions, and demonstrations by experts in the field of business were presented.

David Sweeney: Business Ed. Typing, Advisor to Boy's Business Ed. Club.

Hi-Teen Fashion Club

The Hi-Teen Fashion Club is for senior girls taking Home Economics courses. Those who are members are seeking information about the business world of Home Economics. At every meeting a visitor is invited to speak or give a demonstration. The club members were especially enthusiastic about a demonstration of make-up and hair styling, a lecture on careers in modeling. In addition, the group staged their annual Simplicity Fashion Show in the fall, and held a Christmas Social in December.

Leadership, Equality, Opportunity

Under the leadership of Mr. Richard Qualey the Leo Club progressed through its 4th year since its birth in 1968. The Leo Club, which is sponsored by the Woburn Lions Club, consists of selective youths from the High School. During the past year the Leo Club participated in many successful projects, some of which were: the installation of new officers in November, the outgoing project of collecting books for our men in Vietnam, their assistance in the Lions Club Light Bulb Sale, and their very successful Valentine's Day Project. Under this leadership the Leo Club hopes to continue its fine progress.

Key Club Promotes Youth Service

Key Club Officers: Richard Green (Sec.), Mark Given (Treas.), James Hubbard (Vice Pres.), David Donovan (Pres.), Mr. David Johnson, Advisor.

The Key Club this year continued its assistance to the school and community under the leadership of Mr. David Johnson. Primarily a service club, the Key Club, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Woburn, continued in this endeavor by presenting a wide range of excellent guest speakers and a wide variety of informative topics, which include the youth of today, narcotics and the many opportunities in the world of business.

In service to the school and community the Key Club has distributed food and gift baskets to needy families during the holiday season, sponsored a dance for retarded children, sold football programs, checked coats and sold refreshments at school functions and made many donations to the school department.

Work-Study Program

Last year the Work-Study pilot program demonstrated its popularity among students by recording a big increase in attendance, motivation, morale, and the number of students receiving diplomas. In its second year, the group consists of 50 students; 7 are girls. The students attend the same classes as their classmates, by rescheduling some subjects, they are all dismissed by noon. They then report to their jobs, representing 29 different areas of work, such as, heavy equipment, transportation, recreation, hospital, furniture, distribution, construction, insurance, meat packaging, florists, security, glass, and motel.

In addition, each week work-study classes meet to discuss employment problems, how to plan for the future, interviews, etc. Periodic visits are made to their places of employment to ascertain progress on the job and employer-employee relationships by the work-study coordinator.

Boys and Girls "W" Club

Varsity letter winners participating in all the competitive sports and maintaining a scholastic average of C form the "W" Club. During its second year the Boys' "W" Club has assisted in athletic activities. The Girls' "W" Club is designed to promote girls' athletics and give recognition to deserving athletes. The club provides refreshments for girls' home games, assists in intramurals and other athletic events, and provides financial assistance for related activities.

Numerous Trips Provide Cultural Enrichment for the Art Guild

The Art Guild, under the direction of Mr. Frank Newark and Mrs. Brown, enabled students to enrich their knowledge and appreciation of art by visiting museums and exhibits throughout the year. The Guild took its annual trip to the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln, Mass. Trips to other museums were made whenever possible. This year, as in years past, members of the Guild helped to design and paint the scenery for the Three-One-Act-Plays. The last project of the year was the presentation of the Annual Spring Art Exhibition, in which the students displayed their artistic talents to an appreciative and enthusiastic public.

Distributive Education Club

Distributive Education is a retailing course for seniors which allows the students to gain practical experience in the field of retailing by placing them at retailing jobs as part of their school program. The Distributive Education Club is another part of the students' program which gives them the opportunity to meet with students from other schools at leadership conferences in Baltimore during October. Other conferences for this year brought the students to the Wakefield Regional Vocational School and to the Sheraton Hotel in Hyannis. To raise money for the club's expenses, the students had a very successful candy sale during November.

Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America is designed to give interested high school students a better outlook on the profession of teaching. In a carefully supervised program in elementary schools, the members are given an opportunity to observe and participate in a realistic teaching situation. Field trips, to such places as Perkins Institute for the Blind, Sargent College and other various educational areas are conducted. In addition, the annual Christmas party, the April Cake sale, and a variety of guest speakers play an important role in the club's activities.

Through the hard work and determination of the officers and the sincere help of the advisors, Miss Marie Butler and Mr. James Sullivan, the club has proven to be quite successful.

Talent and Spirit

Again this year they encouraged our football team by their performances at the games and rallies and reflected upon Woburn High's competence by their exhibitions in local parades. Under the direction of Mr. Hal Janks, the orchestra also entertained with noteworthy compositions at the Senior Play, Prize Speaking Contest, and numerous assemblies.

The band is assisted by a group of spirited females who never fail to impress spectators at home and away. Rain or shine the cheerleaders assisted with their pep and enthusiasm at our inter-scholastic competitions. Adding new and original stunts to their repertoire, the Tumblers staged an impressive show of acrobatics at each game. The Majorettes, Emblem Bearers, and Color Guards consistently demonstrated Woburn High's precision and spirit on the field.

Literary Contributions Dominate the Nomad

For the past several years, Woburn High School has had a literary magazine of great quality. This school magazine, the Nomad, uses only material written by students of the school. The Literary Staff selects the best short stories, essays, and poems from those submitted by members of each class. The magazine also features art essays drawn by members of the Art Staff. The magazine published two issues and celebrated another successful year.

Informative Newspaper

Under the direction of Mr. John Johnston the SENTORIAN attempted to promote school spirit and instill a sense of unity among the student body. Issues were published before each vacation, with the staff striving to make each issue as current as deadlines would allow.

To provide an opportunity to evaluate other high schools' activities and to broaden the staff's knowledge of the surrounding areas, the SENTORIAN participated in an exchange program, which involved trading newspapers with other schools.

1972 Innitou

After many hours of hard work devoted to selecting pictures, writing captions, and planning layouts; the Innitou staff has provided a means for every individual to relive the memories of his high school years.

Through the pictures and articles it is possible to recapture the joys and disappointments, the bewilderment and anticipation, the people and places which have influenced us in countless ways; and documents the major social events and activities which have taken place through the years.

The 1972 Innitou serves as a tangible memento of an individual's high school experiences and enables him to reflect back and relive them once again.

SCOREBOARD

Watertown	18	Woburn	6
Woburn	12	Concord	8
Woburn	21	Reading	0
Woburn	12	Stoneham	8
Belmont	21	Woburn	12
Melrose	16	Woburn	8
Lexington	19	Woburn	0
Wakefield	13	Woburn	12
Winchester	42	Woburn	0

Coach Murphy grimaces at the Ref's call.

Woburn back drives for short yardage.

John Licholous intercepts an enemy aerial.

TOUCHDOWN! Woburn.

Football

Fall of 1971 brought an air of optimism to Woburn football boosters. With the arrival of first year head Coach Mike Murphy the resurging Tanners swept to an early season 3-1 record. In the next five games the Tanners were only out played once by powerful Middlesex League Champions, Winchester. Belmont, Melrose, and Wakefield defeated Woburn by a composite eighteen points. The record indicates that with a turn of some events Woburn could easily have been 6-3 and in the first division of the evenly-matched league.

Tanners Determined but Lack Experience

Woburn's basketball fortunes seem to follow the pattern set by football. Competing with an inexperienced team that was frequently out-rebounded, out-shot, and out-scored, the hoopsters finished in the lower half of the Middlesex League. Playing at various times on equal terms with many of their competitors, the Tanners suffered lapses in crucial situations and succumbed in these games despite the efforts of new Coach Sheehan.

Almost a Repeat

The defending Middlesex League champions finished the second half of their league schedule winning seven of the last eight games to finish in second place and qualify for the Eastern Mass. Schoolboy Hockey Tournament for the second year in succession and twelfth time in the last twenty years.

Backboned by the strong goaltending of Jack Ryan and Bob White and supported by defensemen Bob Quinn and Dave Conway, and with forwards Dave Desmond, Billy Murphy, Dan Burger, and John Nagle supplying the fire-power, the Tanner Pucksters treated their fans to an exciting season and a 14-4-2 record.

Tanner hopes for a state tourney victory were dashed on the cold gray ice of the Boston Arena when they were upset by Saugus 3-2 in double overtime of the opening round.

Dejection is evident in Dave Desmond's face.

Baseball

Under coach, Harry Maderosian, the Middlesex League entry looked for another successful season. This year's team had a strong nucleus of returning lettermen. They were Dan Burger, Dave Conway, Jim Michelini, and Clyde Severance.

The Tanners, through spirit, talent, and determination, continued throughout the season to be among the dominant powers of Massachusetts baseball. This was proven at the end of the season by their high finish in the Middlesex League. Woburn's record this season indicates that these elements were vital components of a winning season . . .

Soccer

The Woburn High School Soccer team entered the powerful Middlesex League this year under the leadership of first year coach Tom Kilday. Although the team ended the season with three wins and thirteen losses, this record does not reflect the skill and ability of the team. There were many close games in which Woburn just didn't get the breaks. There are many good players that will still be on the team next year and the next season promises to be the best yet.

Golfers Assault New Terrain

Taking full advantages of an early spring thaw, Coach Fedele's linkmen were off to a fine start in the all-powerful Middlesex League. Despite the strong new courses and the changes in the format of match play, peculiar only to the Middlesex League, the team showed tremendous poise and gave many fine displays of pressure golf.

Coach Fedele attributed the team's performance to the extended practice time available to squad members at the Woburn Country Club and to the experience and leadership shown by the team's three three-year veterans.

A Harried Season

Lacking depth in both Cross country and Indoor track, Coach Tom Treacy's harriers completed a mediocre season. The teams were not expected to be league leading contenders but showed well against some of the stronger teams. Cross Country and Indoor Track indicated that there would be a contingency of veterans returning for Outdoor Track in the spring.

Girls' Basketball

Under the capable leadership of Co-Captains Andrea Golden and Susan Trider, the girls basketball team finished with a 6-5 record.

The week of Feb. 25th can be remembered as one point week. On Tuesday the girls defeated Reading 37-36 and on Friday, Concord 28-27. Both games were come from behind second half and last second thrillers. Next year's team is expected to be a strong contender in the Middlesex Competition.

Seniors graduating from the team are: Donna Brosca, Kathy Finn, Martha Jones, Mary Ellen Jones, Nancy Farrey, and Jean Sweeney.

Softball

Early April marked the beginning of strenuous practice sessions for the members of the girls' softball team. A month of calisthenics proved beneficial to the girls both physically and mentally.

The magnificent team spirit provided the initial spark necessary for a good performance both at the plate and on the field.

Despite the loss of many retiring seniors, the returning girls look forward to another successful season.

Girls' Gymnastics

The end of December marked the beginning of strenuous practice sessions for the members of the girls' gymnastic team. The magnificent team spirit provided the initial spark necessary for a good performance both on the apparatus and off.

Led by Coach Holmes and Co-Captains Donna Bouley and Louise Mercurio, the team had a fairly good season. Their record for the season was two wins and six losses.

Budding underclassmen are sure to develop a promising team for the coming years, despite the loss of their seniors.

There are places I remember
All my life

Though some have changed
Some forever not for better some have gone and some remain

All these places have their moments
With lovers and friends I still can recall

Some are dead and some are living

In my life I've loved them all

CLASS OF '72 HISTORY

It was September of '68 when we first walked through the freshman doors and into the ivy covered walls of Woburn High School. It was the year of the immortal "Battle of the Bands," the end of the Beach boys, and the beginning of Richard Nixon's term as president. It was a year of following and learning from an idolized senior class, and first hearing how to "file to first period class without bells."

Our first taste of student government came with 18 hopeful candidates politicing throughout 8 building. Gary Lightbown, Jimmy Hubbard, Paula Crawford, and George Smith were our officers. A two page code of dress was distributed forbidding tight sweaters, teased hair, round neck T-shirts, high boots, sandals without socks (for fear of injury) and of course, dungarees.

Woburn's first in a series of underground newspapers, the Opinion, was started by dissenting ex-Sentorian staffers to liberalize the established paper. Instead, the price of the Sentorian rose to 15 cents.

The Communications Committee, this year including all the class officers, attempted to set up channels of communication with the School Committee, but after much argumentation, the communications committee dissolved. The Leo Club was started, and we held our first prom, Majestic Islands, which was (thank God) nothing like the afternoon 8th grade dance.

Who could ever forget our first assembly when Thurlow Spurr and the Spurlows, a thirty member group appeared on September 25, with a fast-moving, entertaining professional revue, "Music for Modern Americans." They sang many a catchy safety tune on Driver's Ed. Like most everything else, we learned the next morning that it was a "great success."

Many other exciting events came to pass that year. The Home Maintenance Department, specifically, Richard DiNitto, made the two ticket booths outside Connolly Memorial Stadium, and the month of February was called off because of snow. Also that year, dangerous drugs, such as pot, became a dirty word to concerned politicians in our city, resulting in many a massive drug program, and a winning football team, under the direction of first year coach Lenny Hill, beat undefeated Winchester on a crowded Thanksgiving Day. It was also the last Turkey Day victory we'd see against Winchester as "supporting" students at Woburn High.

Who could forget John Albano as he ran away with first prize in Physical Science/Fair. It was the first time Seniors were able to hold their prom outside of the school, and we realized that it was time for unity and change, time for discovery and tragedy, as our class payed its last respects to David Sweetser.

As we returned from summer vacation, dreams of warm beach days and no homework vanished into the reality of starting with a clean slate and the opportunity of writing our own records, a day lost to education, is a day lost forever, and filing to first period class, again without bells.

There was a new outlook--trying to find a path to escape the pressure of closed studies and notes to go to the bathrooms. Again we looked to the upper classmen for the answers, but there weren't any. Only promises of someday having the right to a cigarette and leaving doors that close tight at 7:45. We finally realized that it was up to us to find the out, and with many hopes Glenn Fitchett, Carl Restivo, Paula Crawford, and Rich McKenna were elected. But four people couldn't do the job it would take 700 to do. We saw the creation of Housemaster's Plan which would try to bring the faculty and students together. We saw the dynasty of the Math Team with individual honors going to Pat O'Connor, and John Albano winning first place in Physics at the Science Fair.

Things started to work as 1300 girls at the high school complained that "the miniskirt was too cold for the winter months... so slacks are needed." And dress slacks were allowed at the High school. But still no dungarees.

Change and Concern--On October 15, 1969, there was a Moratorium with 150,000 people on Boston Common pleading for peace, and several hundred students on Woburn Common were asking for the same thing. People were impressed, but still more names were added to the list of dead that day. A past member of our faculty expressed his opinion in the October 29 issue of the Sentorian by saying, "I think the march was an unorganized waste of effort. The kids in school gained much more than those who marched. They contributed and benefited more by discussing the issues candidly." But those who sat on the common that cold October day were united in one cause.

It was a year of more changes as Dr. Lamontagne replaced Dr. Hassett as Superintendent of Schools, Miss Herlihy became the new Dean of Girls, and Nellie left the cafeteria scene to be replaced by edible lunches.

Alan Devaney won the Public Speaking Contest with his rendition of The Tell-Tale Heart, students picked up trash on Ecology Day, and while no one showed up for the hockey games at Lynn Arena, girls' field hockey was tearing up the turf with an undefeated season.

The best was yet to come during three spring days in April when the show was turned over to the teachers as three members of our faculty spent a few days in jail, and we got a short but welcomed vacation. The highlight of the year was our sophomore prom, "Magical Mystery Tour," with refreshments served in the lower school cafeteria.

Returning as Juniors in September, we were welcomed again by the morning P. A. announcements and a break in every school day by bomb scares. It was always mystifying to us as how the whole school could be searched in a few minutes. Then there was the spur of the moment football rally with no other than Dave Paps making his bid for the presidency. Dan Burger didn't think the candidates speech-making assembly was as funny as everyone else did, and thus was elected to the Presidency of the Junior Class along with Kevin Murphy, Paula Crawford (who by now has become an institution) and Rich McKenna who fought a hard battle and won unopposed. There were football games which ended with the firing of Coach Hill, a basketball season which ended with the resignation of Coach Skeffington. And then there was the Joyce Arena with a hockey team that few will forget as the Tanners hustled their way to first place in the Middlesex League and brought the trophy home.

The installation of the Junior Activities Committee, open to anyone who was willing to work, brought Open Campus to a near reality.

This was the first year that many of us got our fill of PSAT's, NMSQT's, SAT's, and Achievements. The feeling of nausea after one of those long Saturday mornings will remain with us for quite some time. Women teachers were allowed to wear pant suits, and again our math team was victorious with individual honors going to Pat O'Connor of the class of '72. The European tours went into effect again, everyone wore dungarees one day and got away with it, and we massed around the auditorium to listen to the class officers speak on open campus, only to be sent back to 7th period class. Our first formal, "Illusions," was held in the upper school cafeteria, and Norino's cottage became the setting for a raid by the Rye Police Force, all three of them.

We left in June with the realization that we would return as seniors, the leaders of the school, the young adults of tomorrow, and "the worst class in 37 years."

During the Summer of '71, Woburn became a regular on the 11 p.m. news as over one million dollars worth of damage in fire bombings shocked many into the realization that a few of the city's youth were somewhat disenchanted and quite restless. There were crackdowns on vagrancy around the common, and the addition of two friendly police dogs to the force. On that happy note we entered in September for the last time.

There was something strange about the beginning of this school year, and almost everyone, including the faculty, had the premonition that it was to be different and almost exciting. The first new class to come to come up in two years showed us that all junior high graduates aren't as reserved as we expected them to be. And finally, after many long, hard months of communications, it was here. ●open Campus. Or, as it is fondly known to seniors, semi-mini-modern-liberal-open campus plan. It affected a grand total of 100 seniors who were fortunate-enough to have first and last period studies.

A new type of excitement, unknown or forgotten to many came with a football team that won more than one game a season. Sounds of Mr. Janks and Watermelon Man, pride, determination, and a rally before every game almost overshadowed the disenchantment at the end.

The closet, most emotional elections our class has ever seen gave us Mark Bastoni, Carl Restivo, Paula Crawford, and Richard McKenna, as our Senior officers. Things had changed since our Freshman year, and we can truthfully say of these officers that they led the way, because a large majority of the class was behind them.

There was an assembly as the First Gear invaded the auditorium, with hopes of more to come.

The open campus plan wasn't as disasterous as many had predicted it to be, and there was more change. Third period cafe, complete with doughnuts, cheerios, and locked doors. But for those of you who couldn't stand the excitement, there were mini courses consisting of Firefighting, Law Enforcement, The Role of Women in Society, and last but not least, Mrs. Walsh's knitting class.

"A Portrait of Christmas," complete with stained glass windows and lots of snowflakes, put everyone in a festive holiday spirit.

No one got suspended for sloppy dress, and Eugene Lawnicki won a tree and planted it on the grounds of the high school.

Mr. Kimball had gone, so Mrs. McCauseland directed the senior play, Death of a Salesman. It was the most successful and enjoyable event ever put on by our class.

The track team was running unnoticed even though Steve Gaffney and George Clark were breaking records faster than they could be made. The basketball team, along with the golf team improved their records over last year, and the Joyce Arena was again a place of excitement and accomplishment.

Four original one act plays were presented with the comedy, "Gunjoke" and Steve Hart's imitation of Ed Sullivan taking 1st prize.

Panic, distress, and pure horror filled the hearts of many senior girls as the girl's room was mysteriously locked at the wrong times. A unanimous decision knocked the lock off leaving the smokey chambers open forever.

Miss Herlihy resigned as Dean of Girls, the cheerleaders and majorettes brought home a trophy, the girls softball team as of this writing goes undefeated, the Black and Orange review was revisited by none other than Chuck Tucelli, and many dollars for scholars were collected for hopeful college students.

So here we are today with this week being a change in tradition. Yet to come is the senior reception at the Chateau D'Ville and graduation day-minus commencement speakers.

We spent four long years together, learning, sacrificing, laughing, suffering, and whether we realize it or not, we did it together. Look around you today, study the faces of the people near you, because it will probably be the last time you'll see them. Because now you'll be expelled out into a world that won't be welcoming you with open arms, a world that might not give you a second chance. This is a world for us to continue what we have started here. A world to change. Together.
